

10. The BS at the BSO. The Boston Symphony Orchestra is one of the world's best. Last week, they announced they were ending their contract with their music director, Andris Nelsons. One problem: everyone loves him. Even competing orchestras. Another? They forgot to tell the musicians. Given this note to a casual enquirer, maybe the BSO Board are the ones who need to go in a different direction.
